

I am very concerned that our national leaders increasingly are making decisions that will have far-ranging negative consequences for our democracy. We need free and diverse media in order to reflect the many viewpoints of our citizenry, and as a check to the federal government.